CONDITIONS OF SALE

PLEASE READ THE CONDITIONS OF SALE CAREFULLY. YOUR ORAL OR WRITTEN SUBMISSION OF BIDS FOR THIS SALE CONSTITUTES YOUR ACCEPTANCE OF ALL TERMS OF SALE.

1. This sale is a public auction sale conducted by licensed and bonded auctioneers.
2. The descriptions and the state of preservation of all items are given in good faith. All coins offered for sale in this catalogue are unconditionally guaranteed to be genuine and as described.
3. Auction sales are strictly for cash and must be paid for promptly in United States funds. The coins only become the property of the buyer after full payment. Every bidder is personally liable for his purchases and cannot claim to act for the account of a third person. We cannot assume responsibility for any errors in bidding. PLEASE MAKE CERTAIN YOU BID ON THE CORRECT LOT!
4. All floor sales are final and lots cannot be returned for any reason other than authenticity by floor bidders. Any claims for adjustment other than authenticity from mail bidders must be made in writing within 7 days after the delivery of the goods. No lots may be returned without our written permission. It is the buyer's responsibility to have the lots fully insured while in his possession.
5. Bidders unknown to the auctioneers are requested to establish credit or deposit 25 % of their bids before the sale. Baldwin's Auctions Ltd. and M&M Numismatics Ltd. reserve the option of withholding delivery of lots until full payment is received. We cannot accept bids from minors.
6. NO COMMISSION WILL BE CHARGED FOR EXECUTING BIDS. Bidders must pay all postage and insurance charges. Overseas purchasers must furnish their own insurance.
7. The numerical order of the catalogue shall be strictly observed. In the event of any dispute between the bidders, the decision of the auctioneer shall be final. The highest bidder shall be the buyer, and the auctioneer reserves the right to refuse any bid he feels is not made in good faith.
8. When identical mail bids are received, the lot will be awarded to the earliest bidder. We cannot accept unlimited bids, however we will generally start the bidding on each lot 5 % over the next highest bid, thereby attempting to purchase the lot under your bids. Written bids will be treated as limits for each lot. Bidders should assume that all lots may have reserves which are below the estimates.
9. Estimates in this catalogue are not limits or reserves but reflect the actual market prices and are intended as a guide for bidders. The actual prices realised may be higher or lower than these valuations. The starting price will be about 80 % of the estimates, unless there are higher offers. NO BIDS FOR LESS THAN ABOUT 80 % OF THE ESTIMATES WILL BE ACCEPTED.
10. All lots delivered in New York are subject to applicable Sales Tax.
11. All lots are subject to a 15 % Buyer's fee which will be added to the hammer price.
12. Full settlement is due within thirty (30) days of the sale taking place. After that time, any amounts owing will be subject to interest (2 % per month).
13. Any dispute regarding this auction shall be adjusted only by a court located in the DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA. All bidders submit themselves to the personal jurisdiction of these courts for this purpose.

GOOD LUCK, AND REMEMBER TO MAIL OR FAX YOUR BID SHEETS EARLY!

Ex Münzhandlung Lanz, Munich 46 (1986), 116 and Leu Numismatik AG, Zurich 65 (1996), 109 sales - Pyrrhus, king of the Molossians in Epirus took in 295 B.C. as his wife Lanassa, daughter of king Agathocles of Syracuse. In 281 B. C. Tarentum asked him for support against the Romans and in 280 he crossed the Adriatic Sea with 25,000 soldiers and landed in Italy. He declared the expedition as "Panhellenic war against the Barbarians". He twice defeated the Roman army ("Pyrrhic victory"). In 278 B. C. the Siceliotas asked his support against Carthage, ally of Rome, and Pyrrhus took over the Island, acclaimed by all the Greeks as "king of Sicily". He defeated the Carthaginians and pushed them back to Lilybaeum. He returned to Italy in 276 and, after having been severely defeated by the Romans near Beneventum, returned to Epirus. The expedition of Pyrrhus is largely documented by coinages both in Italy and Sicily.

Scostocus is another Thracian dynast / king known only by his coins. He may have taken possession of the city of Ainos after the death of Lysimachus in 281 B. C. and may have used the mint of the city by using the dies he found there. Most of his known bronze issues on the other hand were found in the neighborhood of the city of Cabyle where they were probably produced. Scostocus's territory may therefore be situated alongside the rivers Tonzos and Hebros between the two cities of Ainos and Cabyle.

Ex R. de St-Marceaux, H. Herzfelder and P. Strauss collections; and ex Naville SA, Geneva - Ars Classica SA, Geneva sale 16 (1933/Lucerne), 968. - The goat staters with rosettes, the letters ΑΑ/ΑΑ or the monogram ΔΕ were traditionally attributed to the Macedonian city of Aegae, mainly for two reasons: a) the goat as a canting type of the city's name (goat = αἴξ, pl. αἴγες in Greek); b) the monogram ΔΕ as abbreviation for Edessa, former name of Aegae. Against some strong arguments (e.g. αἴξ is the Greek word for the female goat, the Greek word for the male goat being τράγος, and the goat being primarily a royal type) the attribution of the goat staters to Aegae was maintained. In her article C. C. Lorber shows that the goat staters are linked with the tribal coins of the Bisaltae (common use of ΑΑ/ΑΑ and ΔΕ) as well as with the coinage of king Alexander I of Macedonia (common use of the goat-type and of the letters ΑΑ/ΑΑ). She proposes to identify the goat staters as coinage of a tribe with hitherto uncertain location, but close to the territory of the Bisaltae. The monogram ΔΕ would stand for the initials of the king of the Bisaltae, the letters ΑΑ/ΑΑ being those of Alexander I. The simultaneous apparition of Alexander's initials on the three series would indicate a temporary recognition of Macedonian suzerainty by the Bisaltae and the "goat tribe", or at least an alliance between the three parties involved. The mutual use of the monogram ΔΕ (following the ΑΑ/ΑΑ series) would indicate an alliance between the Bisaltae and the "goat tribe" based on the mutual recognition of the Bisaltic king.

The Kilikarchos was the magistrate who was responsible for the imperial cult within the whole province of Cilicia. He was also in charge of the agonistic games that were connected with the religious festival in honor of the emperor. It was the privilege of Tarsus that each Kilikarchos had to be a citizen of that city and that he had to hold the office there.

- 225 Sextans, cast, 240-225. AE 46.80 g. Head of Mercury with winged petasus l., beneath, two pellets. Rev. Prow r., beneath two pellets. Cr. 35/5. Syd. 76. Thurlow-Vecchi 55. Dark green patina with brown encrustations. Very fine. $ 300
- 226 Anonymous, before 211. Quadrigatus, 225-212. AR 5.93 g. Laureate, Janiform head of the young Penates. Rev. Jupiter in quadriga r., driven by Victory; Jupiter holds sceptre and hurls thunderbolt, incuse on tablet ROMA. Cr. 28/3. Syd. 64. Seaby 5, 23. Nice dark toning. Large flan. Good very fine. $ 450
Andreas Alföldi, Die Penaten, Aeneas und Latinus, Mitteilungen des Deutschen Archäologischen Institutes, Römische Abteilung 78 (1971) 20, identifies the Janiform head on the obverse as double portrait of the Penates who belonged to the original gods of Rome and were not imported from the Etruscans or Greeks. The original Roman religion personified all events connected with growing, harvesting and processing the products of the field. The Penates were responsible for protecting the larder in the house of every family. There also existed Penates for the whole of Rome. They were kept at the temple of Vesta together with the palladium, the statue of Athena coming from Troy, and the holy fire. Only once a year, on June 9, the married women in Rome were allowed to see them. They came barefoot on that day to sacrifice fruits and cake.

The apex - a tight fitting leather cap with a metal peak - was the insignia of the flamen. The flamines in Rome were a board of 15 priests, who were responsible each for the worship and temple of one special god. The three most important flamines took care of the cult of Jupiter, Mars and Quirinus. As Mars is depicted on the rev. of this coin, Crawford, 281 assumes that this coin refers to L. Postumius Albinus, who has been flamen Martialis, priest of Mars.

This coin refers to M. Servilius Pulex Geminus, a hero of the second Punic war. He was a friend of Aemilius Paullus, the victor at Pydna over the Macedonians. Paullus owed the battle to plebeian Servilius Geminus his triumph: When the comitia, where the soldiers had to decide, refused the triumph to the unpopular patrician Paullus, Servilius gave a speech in favour of the commander, showing all his wounds he had obtained from the 23 single combats against the Carthaginians. His intercession convinced the soldiers and Paullus was called imperator and given a triumph. One scene of Servilius's many fights is shown on this reverse. The lituus on the obverse refers to his office as augur.

Q. Fabius Pictor is shown with the apex as he was flamen Dialis, priest of Jupiter. This office included a whole series of taboos. He was not allowed to ride on horseback, nor to stay away one night from Rome. He was forbidden to touch goats, ivy and raw meat. Also he never should see an army. In Rome it was not forbidden for a priest to make a political career. So Fabius was elected praetor, but he had to give up his command that was conferred to him after the end of his office period. Nevertheless this reverse refers to the double prestige that the two offices brought to the ancestor of the mint-master.

This reverse refers to another Roman hero, M. Sergius Silus, grandfather of the mint official, who fought in many battles in the Roman army. During a campaign against the Celts in 218 he lost his right hand. But this did not stop his military career. He replaced his lost hand by an iron one and continued participating in the ongoing campaign. Two times he was caught by the Celts, but escaped. We are well informed about his career, because he was accused of not being capable taking over a priesthood. Mutilated were thought to be ritually impure by ancient society. Sergius Silus defended himself in a speech that was transferred by Varro.

The reverse may refer to a Lex Porcia that extended the right of provocatio also to the Roman citizens within the provinces. This right was a result of the wars between patricians and plebeians. It gave a Roman citizen the opportunity to make an appeal to the Roman people when a magistrate tried to attack him without juridical reason.

Ex Numismatica Ars Classica, Zurich, sale I (1999) 1502. - This scene refers to the first success Sulla could win during his early military career. As young officer he dared to enter the camp of Bocchus only with a few soldiers hoping to convince the king to deliver his son-in-law Jugurtha. This dangerous enemy of the Romans had fled to Bocchus and was hidden in the same camp where Sulla tried to convince Bocchus during days of difficult negotiations to deliver Jugurtha to the Romans. The scene shown on this reverse can also be seen on a trophy that was dedicated by Bocchus to honor Sulla on the Capitol. The standard behind the head of C. Coelius Calvus refers to his victories in Spain; the standard before his head has the typical form of a boar, typical for the Gallic standards, and refers to his victories in Gallia. The reverse shows a L. Calvus preparing the cultic meal for the gods as it was his task as priest in the collegium of VII vir epulo. The trophies are also an allusion to the victories of C. Coelius Calvus and the A in the inscription means his priesthood as Augur. P. Zanker, Augustus und die Macht der Bilder (Second edition, 1990) sees this issue as a typical example, that the late Republican coinage was designed for a political élite and that nearly none of the normal users could understand all the allusions hidden in the pictures and inscriptions.

- 703 Aureus, local imitation from India, about 201-210. AV 7.19 g. SEVERVS - PIVS AVG Laureate, bearded head r. Rev. IMP VI CO-S III Emperor r. on horseback, raising his r. hand in greeting gesture, holding reins with his l. hand. Hill, A Puzzling Aureus of Septimius Severus from India, Spink & Co., London Numismatic Circular XCII / 8, October 1984, 259; the same, Second Thoughts on the Severan Aureus from India, ibidem XCII/10, December 1984, 323 (this specimen). Unique. Large flan. Graffito Δ in rev. field and some light scratches. Good very fine. $ 7,500
- In his first article Hill was of the opinion that this aureus is a so far unknown but regular piece from the mint in Rome. Because the obverse and reverse legends do not match regarding the imperial titles, he thought that the IMP VI may be an engraver's slip for IMP XI and he dated the aureus AD 202. In his second note he altered his opinion; he still thought that the piece is from the mint in Rome, but classified it as a hybrid: obverse of Septimius Severus, reverse of Marcus Aurelius from an issue of AD 173 or 174 (cf. RIC 236, 294/295). He could not find any explanation for the reuse of a reverse die after 30 years. We think the solution lies in the fact that we are in the presence of a local Indian imitation. These imitations, mostly cast but a few struck, are well known for the period of the Severi, cf. Berghaus, Indian imitations of Roman Coins, Proceedings of the XIth International Numismatic Congress (Bruxelles 1991) II (1993), 305ff., especially 306f. and p. 308, fig 1/8 (obverse very close to the present coin); the same, Funde severischer Goldmünzen in Indien, Festschrift Th. Ex M. H. Montagu coll.; and ex Rollin & Feuardent, Paris sale April 20, 1896, 629. - This aureus was part of a series of special issues on the occasion of the beginning of the emperor's consulate in Rome on January 1, 261. The rev. depicts for the last time in the Roman coinage Janus, considered here as ancestor and founder. The second specimen known of this type (Bibliothèque nationale in Paris) is from the same dies and holed in the same way. This may indicate the fact that these coins were parts of pendants and worn as a kind of "talisman".

Ex Counts of Schwarzburg in Arnstadt, and Dukes of Saxony-Gotha in Gotha collections; and ex Hess AG, Lucerne sale 252 (1982), 312 - The history of this spectacular medallion can be traced back as far as the beginning of the 18th century. Banduri, Numismata imperatorum Traiano Decio ad Paleologus Augustus (1718), 350, 3 mentions the medallion for the first time with the location "in cimelio Schwarzburgico". The collection of Count Anton Günther of Schwarzburg was built up or at least considerably enlarged and worked up by the Swiss numismatist A. Morell (AD 1646-1705) between 1693-1705. Soon after the count sold the collection to Prince Frederic II of Saxony-Gotha in Gotha for the amount of 90,000 Thalers, only a few years after count Anton Günther had turned down an offer of Charles VI, emperor of the Holy Roman Empire, to sell him the collection.

Our medallion is obviously a presentation piece, issued on the occasion of the appointment as Caesar of Constans II on December 25, 333. Such large gold medallions were reserved to the very inner circle of the imperial court. In most cases rings were applied and/or the medallion was put in a frame, which makes it clear that the imperial gift was worn as a necklace, showing the emperor's portrait when worn. For the type of ring removed at one time from our medallion, cf. Toynbee pl. VI, 5 (similar medallion for Constantius II) and pl. VII, or Alföldi, Antike Numismatik (1978) II, pl. 14-17. - See colour plate.

Ex Münzen und Medaillen AG, Basel sale 64 (1984), 302. - This "Fest-solidus" was issued on the occasion of the celebrations of the Quinquennalia of Constans on Dec. 25, 337 AD. The reverse stresses the harmony (Concordia) between the three brothers after having surmounted some difficulties at the beginning of the common reign. The accentuate position of Constantine underlines his role as "Primus inter pares." - See colour plate and back cover.
